Articulating the Value of the Platform

At ServiceNow, we make sure the customer's journey with ServiceNow is creating value. One key opportunity we have is to accelerate adoption and deployment of our products. We need to get customers from investment to impact as fast as possible.

Create case for the company

Every value proposition should speak to a customer's challenge and make the case for your company as the problem-solver.

Break the work into different parts:

- Understand the customer desired outcomes
- Identify the solutions and capabilities
- Articulate the value and metrics to the customer

Sources of benefits

Benefits are created by the solutions. Access information on benefits for solutions the following ways:

- ServiceNow capability map: Refer to the capability map often and familiarize yourself with the workflows and associated applications.
- Now Create: ServiceNow's prescriptive proven methodology based on thousands of successful implementations. It provides project-specific Success Packs which are the heart of Now Create and provide a blueprint for everything you need including prescriptive guidance, leading practices, and project recommendations to deliver desired results.
- Resource Center: ServiceNow provides a resource center that is full of materials in helping create value statements. Visit the Resource Center to search for materials listing solution benefits.

Presenting the value of the platform

It is important to know your audience. Different stakeholders have varying levels of technical expertise. Additionally, there are often competing priorities and concerns. There will be times when you are addressing a team of different stakeholders.
